

How are the wedding plans?

Constantly repeating yourself?

Meet man. Fall in love. Get engaged. Ensure that everyone gets a gander at the ring.

Think your work is done? Think again. Into the trauma of taffeta, tantrums and travel enters a ray of practical light – The Social Gathering – an on-line wedding journal that allows you to share everything with just the click of a mouse.

Green, Eco-Friendly. These are words we are hearing more and more often. Individuals, as well as businesses like TSG are starting to want to give back to the world by doing their bit.

These bespoke sites lets friends and family from all around the globe log on and keep up with all the arrangements - the venue, accommodation, gift list and even the big day without having to send letters, invitations and telling everyone over and over again about how the plans are coming along...

Our websites are different to

No two weddings are the same, so why shouldn't an online journal be equally as unique?